

We only realize the true value of something for us when we lose it.

(A triviality which becomes wisdom when we experience it.)